

Battle Revived Over Farm Price Supports

WASHINGTON (AP)—Opposing House forces squared off today in a new battle over the old issue of farm price supports.

The decision, however it goes, is certain to echo noisily in next year's political campaigning.

Scheduled for two days of debate was a bill to junk the administration's fledgling flexible support program and restore high rigid price props on basic commodities to the levels first fixed in World War II to spur production.

No Early Change

Both sides conceded the vote could go either way when the showdown comes Wednesday.

Last year, in a Republican-controlled House, 45 Democrats teamed up with the GOP majority to pass the present flexible law supporting basic farm crops at levels between 82½ and 90 per cent of parity. Voting with the Democrats were 23 Republicans.

Regardless of what the House does, no early change in the law is in prospect.

The Senate Agriculture Committee has indicated it will not even consider a price support bill before next year. And in the event Congress should pass such legislation, it would almost certainly be vetoed by President Eisenhower.

Dairy Products Included

The new farm bill would restore price supports at 90 per cent of parity for wheat, corn, cotton, rice and peanuts. Under the present administration program, these crops can be supported at 82½ to 90 per cent of parity this year. The support range will drop to 75 to 90 per cent next year and thereafter.

For dairy products, the measure proposes price supports at 80 to 90 per cent of parity in place of 75 to 90 per cent under present law.

Chou Cease-Fire Offer Called Fake

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) said today Secretary of State Dulles has indicated he doubts Red China's Premier Chou En-lai will follow through on his offer to discuss Far Eastern tensions.

Speculation that the United States and Communist China might be able to get together on some kind of cease-fire in the Formosa Strait increased sharply 10 days ago when Chou expressed willingness to undertake direct talks and said China did not want war with this country.

"I doubt that anything comes of Chou's offer to talk," Smith said in an interview. "The impression I get from Secretary Dulles is that he doubts it too. But the secretary matched the offer for direct conversations with Chou so that the Communists couldn't say we were unwilling to discuss a settlement."

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Asst. Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson report to President Eisenhower today on their talks in Formosa with Chinese Nationalist leader Chiang Kai-Shek.

Smith said he doubts Chiang would agree to attend any conference with the Chinese Communists on the cease-fire issue, even if invited.

Eisenhower has said it would be "perfectly legitimate" to talk to Red China's representatives about a cease-fire even though the Nationalists were absent.

Auto Output Sets All-Time Record

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. and Ford Motor Co. reported Monday all-time production records for the first four months of this year.

GM said its April production set a new record for any month in the company's history.

Chrysler Corp. plants in April almost doubled their production of the same month last year and in the first four months of 1955 more than doubled the volume of the same period last year.

GM's April output in the United States and Canada totaled 452,683 cars and trucks, compared with 348,307 in the same period last year.

Legislators Map Pension Boost For Public Employees

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's Legislature is working on a series of bills designed to bring all public employes systems in Michigan under the federal Social Security system and raise the combined pensions ranging from 54 to 65 per cent of salaries.

Explaining the program to the Senate Monday night, Sen. Lewis G. Christman (R-Ann Arbor) said the goal is a combination of existing pension systems with social security which will be "generous" and provide incentive for continued public employment in competition with industry.

Christman said the proposals would give public employes at the $3,000 a year salary level a combined pension of $1,962 after 30 years of service compared to the present $1,779.

Christman said the uniform pension payments for all the Michigan systems will permit total reciprocity between each system. Thus, he said, a teacher may switch to state employment or vice versa without losing any pension rights.

Schools Raise Standards To Keep Teachers

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—School administrators are finding that one way to get and keep teachers—a sore problem for 15 years now—is to make it harder to be a teacher.

The number of states requiring a college degree in education to teach in elementary schools now is nearing 35, and others are planning to put degree requirements into effect.

Money Important Too

A group of school superintendents attending a conference of presidents of state associations of administrators here discussed this development in a panel interview today.

"We put in a requirement for a degree about three years ago," said Dale Whitenack, of Vancouver, Wash., "and, as many states have found, we discovered that the higher the requirements, the better are the chances of getting teachers."

"The first question prospective teachers usually ask our recruiters is 'What are your requirements?' Money is important too, but most of all they seem to want to work where their associates are well trained."

Elementary Grades Included

"It's only the same thing that the bar and medical profession did 40 or 50 years ago," commented William H. Buker, Holden, Mass. "They raised their standards, and you can see the results."

Massachusetts has required a degree for some years. Several states—Kansas and Louisiana, for example—have required them for junior and senior high schools and are beginning to put a degree requirement into effect for elementary schools.

Visitors Snatch Tulips In Holland

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP)—The fine for picking tulips along Holland's famous Tulip Lane is $5 per flower.

At that rate Charles D. Beddinger, 20, and Dean Soyering, 20, both of Gary, Ind., would have owed the city something like $3,000.

State police found more than 600 tulips stuffed into their car when they were stopped near New Buffalo for speeding.

Municipal Judge Cornelius Vander Muelen fined them $104 each plus costs Monday and sentenced them to 30 days in jail on a charge of malicious destruction of flowers.

Accused Killers Of Oilman Shot

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Two men accused of slaying wealthy oilman William P. Clark were shot down on the Jacksboro Highway northwest of here Monday night.

Cecil Green, ex-convict and Texas underworld figure, was reported in critical condition. His companion, Leroy (Tiny) Eggleston, suffered a gunshot wound in the arm.

The pair and Harry Huggins are charged in the slaying of Clark May 19, 1953. All are free on bond. Clark's widow, Mrs. Mary Clark, 43, is charged as an accomplice in the death of her husband.

Huggins told police in a statement that the three men went to Clark's 23-room mansion and that Eggleston took Clark into a room and shut the door, leaving Green and Huggins outside. The two heard a shot, Huggins said, and Eggleston walked out alone.

Eggleston, Green and Mrs. Clark all have denied any connection with the shooting, Huggins said. Mrs. Clark offered $10,000 for Clark's death in a fake robbery but only paid $6,000 after the killing.

Russia To Unify Military Command With Satellites

VIENNA (AP)—Warsaw radio announced today that Russia and her seven East European satellites will meet in the Polish capital May 11 to set up a unified military command.

Western observers in Vienna said the move apparently was being taken to provide the legal basis for retaining Russian troops in Hungary and Romania after the expected end of the four-power occupation of Austria.

The Warsaw Radio said the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, East Germany, Hungary and Albania would take part in the conference, with Communist China sending an observer.

Miami Couple Disappears; Blood Trail Hints Murder

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Law enforcement officers intensified their search today for Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferri but they said there was little hope that the well-to-do couple would be found alive.

The couple were classified as "missing persons", although the condition of the seven-room home from which they disappeared Friday night pointed to murder. Blood spots led from the front room to a bedroom and then to a carpet. Human blood was on a pair of Ferri's slippers near the driveway.

A theory that Ferri, 68-year-old retired plumber and pipe fitter, was the victim of a gangland slaying lost significance as officers delved into the couple's background.

Ferri had been subpoenaed as a witness in the income tax evasion trial of Albert Anastasia in Newark, N.J., May 10. Anastasia reputedly was onetime executioner of Murder, Inc., in Brooklyn.

U.S. Dist. Atty. Raymond Del Tufo said in Newark that Ferri was one of the witnesses subpoenaed for the May 10 trial.

Baltimore Votes On Mayor Today

BALTIMORE (AP)—After a colorful campaign featuring a parody of the Davy Crockett ballad, references to baseball and charges of bossism, Baltimoreans choose their mayor today.

About half of the 400,000 eligible were expected to vote on whether Democrat Thomas D'Alesandro should get a third straight four-year term or be replaced by Republican Samuel Hopkins.

In the last 28 years, D'Alesandro has been elected to the State Legislature, City Council and Congress. He has never lost an election.

Hopkins, a 41-year-old widower and bank official, had the backing of the Baltimore Sunpapers. Four years ago he was the only Republican among 42 state legislators from Baltimore, where Democrats hold a 4-1 edge in registration. He lost a later run for Congress.

Manhunt Ended; One Felon Dead

CANTON, N.Y. (AP)—A manhunt through northern New York wilderness has ended where it began—in St. Lawrence County Jail, from which four men fled Wednesday.

Freshly shaven and clothed, Patrick Brooks, 26, of Gabriels, walked quietly into the main jail office at Monday night. A friend drove him from the swampy woodland where he had been hunted since Friday.

The final score stood: one desperado dead, one wounded and two in custody. A state trooper was recovering from his wounds.

Leon Caskinette, 24, was taken after a gun battle Friday. Frank Ialarico, 44, Utica, and Ralph LaShomb, 29, were shot when troopers found them Monday morning. Ialarico was killed.

More than 200 state police, sheriff's deputies and volunteers took part in the manhunt in rough country near the Canadian border.

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Three persons were killed Monday night when their car ran a stop sign, plowing into another car on winding U. S. 16, about 15 miles west of Grand Rapids. The dead all from Grand Rapids, were Matthew Solomon, 66; Rosa Collier, 38; and Mattie Duchart, 57.

Another passenger, Philip Ward Jr. and the other motorist, Harold F. Webster, 48, Grand Rapids, suffered internal injuries.

Picked Bomber Crews Will Get Secret Missiles

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today the United States has agreed to train selected British bomber crews to use American atomic weapons.

"This agreement clearly envisages the delivery—in a war emergency—of United States atomic weapons to units of the Royal Air Force," the Times dispatch from London said.

The report added that the actual weapons would only be turned over to the British from U.S. stocks in Europe on the order of the American President, as required by U.S. law.

The Times said according to "responsible sources" the new British-American arrangement "marks the first time since the passage of the McMahon Act of 1946—liberalized by Congress last August—that the United States has begun planning with an ally for the potential use of American atomic weapons by that ally."

In amending the McMahon Act last year, Congress authorized the President to release to Allies limited atomic information—none of it top secret—for use in defense planning and training. The act also authorizes the President to deliver atomic weapons to the U.S. Defense Department for "such use as he deems necessary in the interest of national defense."

Four Swedish Jets Lost In Icy Lake

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Four missing Swedish jet fighter planes were discovered today to have crashed in close formation through the melting ice of Lake Glotten.

The Swedish built aircraft disappeared Monday soon after their takeoff from a base at Norrkoping, 14 miles south of the lake. Each carried only its pilot.

The Air Force could not explain the accident.

Senate Approves Deer Control Bill

LANSING (AP)—The Senate, on its second try, has passed the bill to extend the Conservation Commission's discretionary power over the deer herd in the Lower Peninsula.

The bill was watered down from a three-year extension to a two-year extension in order to pick up enough votes to overcome the initial defeat a week ago.

The measure passed Monday night by a 21-6 vote, compared to the previous 15-9 vote—three short of the necessary majority.

Negative votes were cast by Sens. Dehmel, Faulkner, Minnema, Novak, Rahoi and Vander Werp. Sens. Blundy, Graebner and Roy were present but did not vote.

The successful passage resulted when the following switched from previous negative votes or refusals to vote: Sens. Christman, Doyle, Geerlings, Greene, Lane, Nichols.

The bill gives the commission power to change hunting seasons and kill regulations without specific legislative permission.

Its reception in the House is considered doubtful.

The Senate also passed and sent to the House a bill giving sheriffs, in conjunction with city and township legislative bodies, power to impose speed limits on motor boats in waters connecting with the Great Lakes.

The Senate confirmed the governor's appointment of William J. Cochran Jr. of Iron Mountain to the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

Unions Wrangle Over New Name

WASHINGTON (AP)—AFL and CIO efforts to merge into a single labor union group have snagged at least temporarily in a dispute over a name for the proposed combined organization.

Both sides declined to say today what names they have in mind but apparently the AFL wants the new organization to bear its own name while the CIO wants something new like "the American Congress of Labor."

George Meany, AFL president, said the quarrel over a name could cause "trouble," but he added: "We've had trouble before and we've gotten over it."

Otherwise, Meany, CIO President Walter Reuther and other AFL and CIO leaders reached complete agreement Monday on a constitution, or set of working rules, for the proposed merger organization.

The constitution, with the name of the new organization left blank, will be submitted to the AFL Executive Council and CIO Executive Board this week, with approval expected. Thereafter, if the name quarrel is settled, only ratification by the AFL and CIO conventions would be needed to put the merger into effect.

Electronic Alarm Scares Burglars

CHICAGO (AP)—The burglars who broke into the Michigan Electronics, Inc., plant were greeted by a pleasant male voice: "Good evening, gentlemen. We remind you that this place is electronically guarded. We suggest that you turn around and disappear."

There was a brief pause and the male voice, not pleasant, shouted: "Help, police, police! Thieves, burglars! Help, police! Next came a woman's shrieks: "Call the police, help, help! Call the police." Then a siren wailed and alarm bells set up a loud racket.

Nearby residents summoned police but the burglars had fled.

Paul Grossi, engineer for the company which manufactures pocket-size tape recorders, said Monday he and another engineer rigged up the device "largely as a gag." The burglary attempt was its first test.

Thwarted Bandit Named Killer Of Illinois Banker

KAMPSVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Clifford Hubbard, 26-year-old St. Louis convict, was charged with the murder of a bank cashier Monday in connection with a thwarted bank robbery plot.

Hubbard's accomplice, Thomas Underwood, 26, of Washington Park, Ill., an East St. Louis suburb, was killed along with Harry Waldheuser, 63-year-old Bank of Kampsville cashier in a wild flight from pursuing police late Sunday night.

Hubbard, held under guard at a Carrollton, Ill., hospital, was charged with murder, kidnapping and attempted bank holdup by Sheriff Paul L. Aderton. Underwood also was an ex-convict.

Waldheuser's wife, Lela, suffered a skull fracture, a possible spinal injury and fractures of both legs when the car in which she and her husband were held as hostages overturned in the chase.

Officers fired about 15 shots before the getaway car crashed on a curve. Waldheuser's body had two bullet wounds, apparently from shots fired by pursuers, but they didn't cause his death.

Sheriff Aderton said Hubbard told him the men planned to force Waldheuser to open the bank's vault but had decided to wait through the night until a time look would open. Townspeople surrounded the house after being alerted by Mayor Jesse Campbell and his wife, neighbors of the Waldheusers.

Saigon Premier Has US Support

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department, after wavering briefly, reportedly decided several days ago on all-out support for free Viet Nam's Premier Ngo Dinh Diem in the face of French and some Vietnamese opposition.

The French position, meanwhile, reportedly has changed. Government sources said Monday night in Paris that France is joining the United States in support of Diem.

Special Ambassador J. Lawton Collins, it was learned today, has been instructed to give Diem 100 per cent backing, scrapping plans which might have curbed Diem's authority.

At the same time, the United States was understood to have requested both France and absentee Vietnamese chief of state Bao Dai, now living on the French Riviera, to throw their full support behind Diem.

This plea reportedly was bolstered by an implied threat to cut off American military and economic aid if French authorities and Bao Dai continued to oppose Diem.

State Lists 26 Cases Of Polio

LANSING (AP)—In its first polio report of the season, the State Health Department said today 26 cases of infantile paralysis have been listed so far this year.

None of the reported cases was among children who have received the Salk polio vaccine.

However, the department warned that some cases will develop among vaccinated children.

First, the department said, some children probably will be well along in the incubation period when they receive their vaccine. In these cases, the inoculation will do no good.

Secondly, the department reminded that the vaccine is only supposed to be 80 to 90 per cent effective and that disease will develop in time among some children who receive the shots.

Of the 26 cases reported this year, four occurred last week. Three were in Wayne County and one was in Ingham County.

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—With cherry blossoms popping out all over northwestern Michigan, the Grand Traverse Ministerial Assn. hastily advanced the date for the annual Blessing of the Blossoms ceremony.

They set it for next Sunday afternoon at Bowers Harbor near Old Mission, the traditional place for the ceremony.

Entire orchards turned snowy white in a matter of hours Sunday and Monday—at least a week earlier than was anticipated.

City Acquires WDBC Building

The city of Escanaba has taken possession of a former radio station studio at Sand Point under terms of a lease to the Delta Broadcasting Company, and the City Council is considering a request of the Delta Historical Society to use the building for a museum.

City Manager A. V. Aronson was authorized by the City Council to take possession of the building for the city, as provided in a lease of land on which the building is located.

According to the terms of the lease, the building or buildings erected by the Delta Broadcasting Company on the leased land revert to the city when the Company ceases to operate a radio station there. The studio of WDBC is now located in downtown Escanaba and the transmission tower was removed from the Sand Point location a number of years ago.

At a recent meeting of the City Council a request was received from the Delta Historical Society to use the former studio as an historical museum, and the Council has asked for additional information from the Society on its plans for operation and maintenance of the proposed museum.

Officers and directors of the museum committee of the Historical Society are discussing plans for the museum project, but the group will not meet on Saturday, May 6 at the building at Sand Point, said Charles Folio, Historical Society president. The group will be notified by card when the meeting is to be held, he added.

Iron Ore Boom:

Nearly 500,000 Tons Of Ore Shipped In 24 Days

The first ore carrier of the season arrived in Escanaba on April 7, and 24 days and 47 boats later a total of 481,134 tons of iron ore had been loaded at the Chicago & North Western dock for shipment to smelters at lower lake ports.

Steel operations are booming, the demand for steel is strong and consequently there is an equally strong need for the volume transportation of iron ore from Lake Superior mines to the smelters. The ore shipping season opened earlier this year and the volume of ore moved in 1955 is expected to go well above last year's total.

L. A. McMillan, C&NW ore dock agent, reports that the 481,134 tons of ore shipped from Escanaba in April is 404,459 tons above the total for the same month last year. In 1954 the shipping season opened on April 19 and 76,459 tons of ore were loaded out by May 1.

"We expect that shipping will continue at a brisk pace throughout the season," said McMillan. "Ore is arriving here from mines in all three ranges—Menominee, Marquette and Gogebic—in greater quantity than a year ago."

Shipping opened late last year and only 3,967,417 tons of ore were loaded out of Escanaba for the entire season.

McMillan hesitated to estimate the volume of ore to be shipped from Escanaba this year, but the total will exceed that of a year ago. He noted that the peacetime ore shipping record at Escanaba was set in 1951 with 6,500,000 tons when the Chicago & North Western Railway had two docks operating here.

Now there is but one dock in operation—No. 6. The other dock, which has not been maintained and has fallen into disrepair, has been sold and will be razed for timber salvage.

Sheep Recover On Orchid Diet

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (UP)—O. H. Wilkins recommends an orchid diet for shivering sheep. But not his orchids.

Eight hundred newly sheared sheep began keeling over Monday after a rainy and windy weekend caught them in an unseasonable state of undress. Their pasture is near Wilkins' five-acre estate.

Wilkins, a lighting director for the National Broadcasting Co., said he couldn't get help for them on the telephone, so he began hauling the nearly dead sheep by wheelbarrow to his only convenient shelter—his orchid hothouse.

"I never cared much for sheep," he said, "but I just couldn't stand around and watch those poor things die off like that."

About half the sheared sheep died. "They got a chill," said their owner Nick Costa. "It turned into pneumonia, and they died."

Wilkins sheltered 100 of them in his snug and warm hothouse. On the advice of a veterinarian, he administered penicillin with his orchid feeder syringe.

The still-wobbly 100 perked up, looked around and began to munch—on Wilkins' rare orchids. He said some of the plants were worth more apiece than the sheep. Between the drugs and diet, however, they were soon revived.

Costa said the 400 who died were trucked away to a rendering plant.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Use Of Welding Told To Rotary

The application of welding as a production tool in modern industry was explained to the Escanaba Rotary Club at its Monday noon meeting at the Delta Hotel in a motion picture depicting welding operations in plants of the Harnischfeger Corporation.

Robert O. Losse, general manager of Harnischfeger Corporation's operations in Escanaba, presented the film program titled "New Horizons in Welding." Losse is chairman of the Rotary Club's program committee for May.

The welding operations pictured were scenes in Harnischfeger's Milwaukee plants and similar to those in the corporation's truck crane plant in Escanaba, Losse said. Welding has become an essential production tool to keep the wheels of industry turning, it was reported.

Harnischfeger's welder plant at Escanaba manufactures all welders for the Corporation, including 27 different models—AC and DC machines and combinations of the two. Of Harnischfeger's slightly more than 800 employees in Escanaba, 140 are employed in the welder plant.

Guests at the Rotary meeting introduced by Denis McGinn, Rotary Club president, were: Judge Glenn W. Jackson, Rex Stowe and G. E. Dehlin, Gladstone; and Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, recently of Menominee where he was editor of the Menominee Herald-Leader.

Water Safety Will Be Demonstrated In Yacht Club Classes

The last two of the 1955 series of Escanaba Yacht Club boatsmanship classes are scheduled for May 4 and 11, it was announced today. The final meeting will include a pram racing demonstration in the yacht harbor to illustrate safety rules and sailing tactics and an examination on the various phases of the classroom instruction to date.

Preparation for the examination is to be given at the May 4 meeting by Dr. Leonard Vader, who will distribute and discuss a mimeographed set of boating questions. The students will be helped in writing the correct answers in the blanks provided and encouraged to keep the questions for study and future reference.

The meeting this Wednesday is to start with an outdoor demonstration on how to rig a pram for sailing. The demonstration will be conducted by one of the experienced skippers and will use the pram of the H. W. Gasman family. The meeting is scheduled to begin at the EYC Clubhouse at 7 p. m.

According to Russell L. Johnson, the boatsmanship classes this year will be followed by more on-the-water instruction than in 1954, however, certificates are to be awarded at a program later in May, at which time a water safety film will be shown.

Union spokesmen said the increase will go into a newly inaugurated health and welfare program for Wayne County (Detroit) barbers.

Gladstone Man Held By Police In Iron Mountain

IRON MOUNTAIN — William R. King, 21, of Gladstone, will be arraigned Wednesday before Municipal Judge William Bolognesi in Iron Mountain on a charge of driving away a motor vehicle without the owner's permission but without intent to steal.

A disorderly conduct charge that had been placed against William R. McMillie, 20, Gladstone, has been released from Dickinson County Jail.

The two were arrested Sunday by Norway City Police. King was arrested following a getaway attempt with a stolen car and was injured in the process. King was taken to Norway Penn hospital and McMillie to the Dickinson County Jail.

Norway police gave this version of the arrests: Harry Duda, of Spread Eagle, Wis., was returning Roy Bergwall, who lives on Highway US-2, just west of Norway, to his home when the latter noticed someone driving his car away from his driveway. Bergwall's car, Norway police said, was being driven by King, who was alone in the car.

Duda and Bergwall gave chase west on US-2, in the former's car, and forced King and the stolen car off the road, approximately one block from Bergwall's house.

King, Norway police said, then ran from the car in an attempt to escape, but fell to the ground and was unable to continue. An ambulance was needed to take King to the Norway hospital.

Norway police later arrested McMillie, who was noticed loitering near the Bergwall home. McMillie was arrested on a charge of being

The Editor Appraises The Role Of The Newspaper Editorial

AN editor in a new job, writing his first editorial for a community to which he is just being introduced, ought to have distilled some wisdom from his experience to have on tap for such an occasion, but a look at the role of the editorial seems more fitting for the occasion.

An editorial is an expression of the editor's opinion. In the years in which the American press was vehemently partisan

Words, Wit & Wisdom

By William Morris

The controversy stirred up by Dr. Rudolf Flesch's exciting new book WHY JOHNNY CAN'T READ has become nationwide. A California newspaper had so much reader response to an article about it that it ran the follow-up story on page one, reporting that 90 per cent of the response favored the book and the 10 per cent dissenting was composed entirely of professional workers in the field of education who may be presumed to have a stake in today's procedures. What's more, the conservative old publishing firm of Harpers which brought out the book, has been frantically trying to fill orders that currently are running at more than 4,000 copies a week—a fantastic figure for a serious work of non-fiction.

My own mail reflects widespread interest, with most parents enthusiastically supporting Dr. Flesch in his attack on the "whole-word method" of teaching reading which, simply put, assumes a child should be taught to read words before he learns individual letters and the sounds they represent. While this method (which Dr. Flesch calls "word-guessing") is assuredly not the only one used in American schools, it has been much in vogue for the past two decades and has, in the opinion of Dr. Flesch and many others, been chiefly responsible for the great increase in slow or non-readers among our youngsters.

What manner of man is this Rudolf Flesch who braves the wrath of the entrenched and self-professed "experts" in reading techniques—most of whom stem from Columbia U.'s Teachers College? Well, first—and this is his most unforgivable sin in the eyes of the high priests of the cult—he himself is a Teachers College Ph. D. Secondly, he has been far too successful, having written five earlier books that have sold in the hundreds of thousands of copies. What's more, the Associated Press has called him in for advice on how to improve the readability of their news copy—an unprecedented and very well-paid distinction for a college professor.

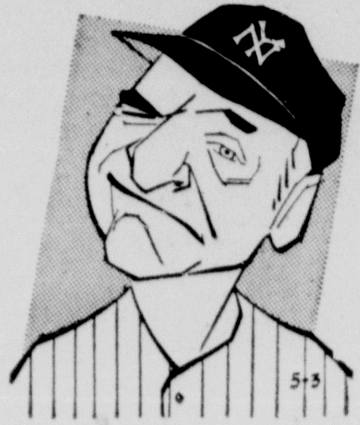

And where is Dr. Flesch today? He is in India at the express request of the Indian government, making a study of the techniques of the teaching of reading in the more than thirty dialects used in that country. On his recommendations will be based the selection of reading materials to be used throughout this nation of about 400,000,000 population. Just possibly our own school administrators should heed the words of this man, paying special attention to the subtitle of his new book WHY JOHNNY CAN'T READ—AND WHAT YOU CAN DO ABOUT IT!

The ebullient boniface promptly produced a pencil and proved by mathematics that Stengel's team was a shoo-in to cop the pennant. At closing time Casey pulled off the tablecloth on which Toots had made his computations, and started to stuff it in his pocket.

"Hey!" roared Toots, "whassa idea of trying to bust up my joint?"

"I just won my first pennant on that tablecloth," explained Stengel, "and I'd like to keep it as a souvenir."

The Doctor Says . . .

Bluish Spots on the Skin Should Be Investigated

By EDWIN P. JORDAN M.D. — Written for NEA Service

Mrs. L. and Mrs. N. have recently asked for a discussion of thrombocytopenic purpura. One has a 6-year-old son and the other a 9-year-old daughter who have been diagnosed as having this condition.

Probably most readers of this column have never heard of purpura much less of thrombocytopenic purpura which is only one of several varieties. Purpura is a disease which shows itself by the formation of purple patches on the skin and mucous membranes resulting from bleeding in those locations. In most respects, therefore, a purpuric patch is similar to that of an ordinary bruise and in many who have purpura, bruising can come more easily than in a normal person.

PURPURA is complicated at best. It may develop from any one of a large number of infections such as pneumonia, meningitis or measles. It may be present in certain vitamin deficiency diseases such as scurvy or it not infrequently follows administration of drugs to those who are sensitive to them.

In some cases it is related to malfunctioning of the spleen. In some the cause cannot be discovered at all. In a more general way, it may be related to changes in the capillary blood vessels which allow the blood to seep through more easily than usual, or to changes in the various parts of the blood itself.

WHENEVER IT OCCURS a number of tests must be taken to find out what kind of purpura is present, what treatment offers the best chances of improvement, and what the outlook is for recovery.

If the condition is the result of an infection which is likely to improve, it may be that little needs to be done; if it is the result of taking some drug, discontinuing the drug may be enough to bring recovery. On the other hand, if it is the kind of purpura resulting from malfunctioning of the spleen, serious consideration will have to be given to removing that organ.

IN FACT, in the splenic kind of purpura removing all of the spleen may be the answer; it is a curious fact that the spleen which lies in the abdominal cavity, and the functions of which are not yet fully understood, can be removed not only without harmful effects, but also with great benefit in a few conditions of which purpura is sometimes one.

Most readers will never have occasion to become personally concerned about purpura. Nevertheless they should realize that the development of these bluish spots in the mucous membrane or on the skin are signs of something which should involve immediate and careful investigation.

Today In Europe

By DAVID LAWRENCE

LISBON—Nowhere in the world is more convincing proof to be found of the double-talk and hypocrisy of Prime Minister Nehru of India and some of his colleagues at the recent Afro-Asian conference than right here in Portugal.

For, despite all those professions of high purpose—such as non-violence and non-aggression—the Portuguese can give you an account of the territorial greed and aggression by India which makes all the pious utterances of Nehru about "anti-colonialism" seem rather hypocritical.

Portugal has for 400 years owned Portuguese India. The largest of its three districts is Goa, a small territory of about 1,350 square miles on the coast of India which today is inhabited by more than 500,000 people, almost all of whom are Portuguese. There is no trade or commercial relationship or exploitation involved—only a cultural tie. Portuguese inhabitants of Goa have married Indians and have been living peacefully there for a long time. Some of their number have come to Portugal to study and have become a part of the government. One full-blooded Indian has become a member of the Supreme Court of Portugal—there is no discrimination here on the basis of race or color.

But in 1947 India, inspired by Communist pressure, began to move in on the territory of Goa. Armed raids have been staged. Demands have been made by Nehru that Portugal give up her territory, and an economic blockade has been imposed. Portuguese India isn't a colony. It is an integral part of the Republic of Portugal, just as much as Alaska is a part of the United States.

STEADY NEEDLING

The Communists have kept up a steady needling of Nehru at New Delhi on the Goa issue, and their aim undoubtedly is to stir up friction between Portugal and her allies. For Portugal is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and is important strategically to the defense of Europe by air and sea. Portugal, moreover, controls the Azores, which are a vital base for the United States military forces.

Thus far the Washington government has steered clear of the controversy, though there is no good reason why the United States shouldn't join Britain in manifesting moral support for the position of Portugal in desiring to hold on to her overseas territories. There is less reason for giving up Goa, which is represented directly in the Lisbon parliament and is thoroughly Portuguese, than for Britain to give up Hong Kong, with its many Chinese inhabitants.

There is no issue of self-determination involved in Goa. For any plebiscite held would bring an overwhelming vote by the people in favor of remaining a part of Portugal. Indeed, under the terms of the Portuguese-British treaty, Great Britain is specifically committed to the defense of all Portuguese territory. Likewise, under the North Atlantic Treaty, a legal case can be made for the protection of all Portuguese territories against attack.

But the issues will probably never be settled by force because India boasts of her desire to adopt peaceful methods, and the government here is assuming that, when all the chips are down, there will be no attempt to take Goa by force.

DIFFERENT CULTURE

Nehru of India talks a great deal about "colonialism" but, in seeking to annex Goa, he is proposing to add to India a territory inhabited by an entirely different race of people with a totally different culture and to force it to amalgamate with a system of life not of its own choosing.

Relatively little has been heard about all this in America. There are, for instance, no speeches being made in New York or Washington advocating the admission of Portugal into the United Nations, though the government here is in supreme control of all its territory on the mainland as well as all its offshore islands. Also, Portugal honors its international obligations.

Maybe because this is an anti-Communist country which has never recognized the Soviet government in Moscow, it cannot get into the United Nations. The Soviet has regularly vetoed the admission of Portugal as well as of Spain.

So far as America is concerned, Portugal is an invaluable ally. She recently has made it possible to have erected here a powerful radio transmitter of "Radio Free Europe" which penetrates the Iron Curtain countries very effectively. Portugal has played ball with Britain and the United States and has demanded nothing in return. Certainly the free world cannot stand by and see her territory stolen from her by any aggressor, particularly the government of Nehru.

Show Business Means Business For Giant American Industries

PATTERNED AFTER HIT SHOW "KISMET," this is a scene from "1000 and One" with Peter Kelley singing to Oldsmobile dealers. It's typical of industry's venture into show business.

NEW YORK —(NEA)— Show business and big business are moving closer together. Every year, more and more industrial firms present, for one reason or another, shows that rival Broadway productions.

Generally, the reason is to introduce a new product or to hype sales meetings around the country. In the old days, a concern might engage a professional MC or even get a good-looking blonde to whip a cover off a new product. Now they'll spend $250,000 or more and hire top Broadway names.

Typical of this new bright approach to industry is Oldsmobile. Every year, they introduce a new car. They want the salesmen in every agency to see this model well in advance of the public, learn its selling points, get excited about its features.

For the last few years they've accomplished this with a show that travels to a dozen or so major cities, where the district's salesmen gather to watch. In New York, the show was put on for three days at the big Mark Hellinger Theater, where some of the biggest legitimate musicals play.

This year, it was called "1000 and One!" and was patterned after the hit show, "Kismet." The program for "1000 and One!" is full of famous names—the choreography was by "Pajama Game's" Carol Haney; the sets and lighting by the Broadway veteran, Jo Mielziner; the choral arrangements by Fred Waring's Don Craig.

The star was Richard Eastham, who once had the lead in "South Pacific." His co-star was Lois Berroldin, who played Laurey in the road company of "Oklahoma!" Most of the rest of the cast of 17 had Broadway and TV experience.

About the only item in the program that theater-goers would find strange was this one: "Original idea, book, lyrics and music by D. P. Brother and Co."

That's Olds' advertising agency. The New York office, headed by Vice-President Frank Egan, is now working on the third big show for Olds. As Egan says, "The point of the show is to sell the car to the dealer so he'll sell it to his customers."

It cost about $250,000 to produce this show, and tour it for 10 weeks. But Olds feels it was worth it. Virtually every dealer saw it. They had a fine time, saw pretty girls and nice scenery and heard good songs and watched expert dancing. But they also got a pretty strong, impressive sales message.

This "announcement show" centered around an Arabian Nights used elephant dealer. A genuine genie put him in touch with the Olds people and—well, before the evening was over, even the Forty Thieves were driving Olds. He won Scheherazade and lived happily ever after.

D. P. Brother and Co., and others like them, aren't kidding around. There is no college-type show, designed to compete with Broadway. They're out to sell cars, and if a show is going to help, they'll do a show. But it'll be the car first, the show second.

That's all right with the actors who do the show. It's perfect for them. They get 10 weeks of work, at full Actors Equity scale, and maybe do seven or eight shows. They get taken to New Orleans, for example, for four days. While there, they have to do one show. The rest of the time is their own, and they're getting paid every minute.

So, when Brother announces auditions for a new Olds show, they are swamped with the cream of the Broadway crop. It's a lot better than clerking in a department store between Broadway parts.

Most of the other automobile makers have similar shows. So do the bigger manufacturers of refrigerators, TV sets, furniture, even ice cream. There are at least two big organizations that specialize in producing them.

One is Detroit's Jam Handy Organization, which does many of the car shows. For one such in Detroit, Handy brought out from New York a cast of 60. During a recent two-week period, Handy had eight "show teams" putting on shows in 43 cities, from coast to coast. They've put on shows for as little as $10,000, as much as a third of a million.

Another is the Howard Lanin Management Corp., in New York which does many industry-wide, trade association shows, and also specializes in productions at conventions. Lanin estimates that industrial shows in 1954 cost their sponsors close to $40,000,000. Sales Meeting Magazine, a trade publication, says that about $2,500,000,000 is spent annually for convention and trade shows. Most of that is for the shows at conventions, but the industrial shows, like Oldsmobile's are playing an increasingly larger part.

And it's a trend that everybody seems to like—the organizations that produce them are thriving, the concerns that sponsor them seem to feel they're worthwhile, the actors who participate are delighted, the salesmen who watch have fun. Nobody objects.

SINGER JAMES MELTON rides one of his antique cars in musical show staged for auto industry by Jam Handy Organization.

Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— It may be weeks before Washington knows the real answers on what happened at the Bandung, Indonesia, conference of 29 Afro-Asian nations. Experts are now combing the record of speeches and the communiqué, looking for holes.

First reaction was that this conference was a great and unexpected victory for the West. This is now giving way to a sober second look.

It is now seen that it will take a completely changed way of life and an awful lot of good deeds by the Chinese Communists to live up to the pious resolutions they agreed to at Bandung.

In this respect, the Bandung communiqué may be a good bit like the Yalta agreement. If the Russian Communists had lived up to their Yalta promises, Chiang Kai-shek might still head the Chinese mainland government.

And if the Red Chinese do not live up to their Bandung commitments, the communiqué is just another scrap of paper.

SOME OF THE IDEALISM of the United Nations charter was written into this communiqué. It incorporates declarations on freedom, self-determination, economic and cultural development and the recognition of basic human rights for the individual.

Communist China has never recognized such principles in the past. It is doubtful if it will do so now.

It is in the Declaration of Promotion of World Peace and Cooperation that the greatest challenge to Communist doctrines is found. This is in the seventh and final section of the Bandung communiqué. It is stated in ten points:

1. Respect for fundamental human rights and for the purposes and principles of the U. N. charter.

Red China has never recognized such rights even for its own people and it has openly defied the U. N. authority.

2. Respect for the sovereignty and territorial integrity of all nations.

RED CHINA HAS NOT RESPECTED this in Korea, Tibet nor Indochina. It does not recognize sovereignty for Formosa.

3. Recognition of the equality of all races and the equality of all nations, large and small.

The first part of that may be aimed at the white nations and at the old colonial powers. The latter part applies equally to the newer Communist colonialism.

4. Abstention from intervention or interference in the internal affairs of another country.

Again, look at the Red record in Korea and Indochina.

5. Respect for the right of each nation to defend itself singly or collectively in conformity with the U. N. charter.

This would seem to sanction collective defense arrangements like SEATO—the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization. But this is limited in part by the next section.

6. Abstention from the use of collective arrangements to serve the interests of a big power . . . or to exert pressure on another country.

IF SEATO COULD BE CHARGED with serving the interests of Britain, France and the United States, it would be open to censure. On the other hand, the Russia-Red China alliance certainly exerted its pressure against Korea.

7. Refraining from . . . aggression . . . against the territorial integrity or political independence of any country.

Once again—Korea, Tibet and Indochina.

8. Settlement of international disputes by peaceful means . . . in conformity with the U. N. charter.

The test of this will be on the Formosa issue.

9. Promotion of mutual interest and cooperation.

Taken literally, that would mean lowering of the Iron and Bamboo Curtains, which no one expects to happen.

10. Respect for justice and international obligations.

No Communist country has in the past ever shown such respect either inside the U. N. or out.

Trio Sentenced To Prison Terms

Three prisoners were sentenced to Marquette State Prison this afternoon by Judge Glenn Jackson in Delta County Circuit Court. The sentences follow: Donald Wiltzie, Gladstone, statutory rape, 2 1/2 to 5 years, with a recommendation of 2 1/2 years. James Joseph Quinn, Gladstone, statutory rape, 1 to 5 years, with a recommendation of one year. John Summers, Escanaba, breaking and entering, 4 to 15 years, with a recommendation of four years. He will be required to complete another sentence for which he was on parole, however, before starting the sentence issued today by Judge Jackson. The jurors have been dismissed for the remainder of the present term as no more jury cases are scheduled to be heard.

New Tax Forms Planned In 1956

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Revenue Service is considering a number of plans for new tax forms next year, but it is all in the thinking and planning stage right now.

Just one thing has been firmly decided — no more color stripes, like this year's, on mailed tax forms identifying over $10,000 and under $10,000 incomes.

More On Short Form
Two other changes, however, are pretty sure to be made:

1. Some shorter basic taxpayer's form will probably emerge, perhaps having just two pages.
2. The $5,000 ceiling on the use of "Short Form 1040" will probably be lifted to somewhere around $8,000 or $10,000.

This year the Internal Revenue Service had only two months after the 900-page, completely revised 1954 tax code was signed by President Eisenhower in mid-August to revise nearly 500 income tax forms, and write instructions for their use. The effort was hampered by lack of experience with the new law, and lack of administrative interpretation of its debatable points.

No Major Law Revisions
There is little prospect of further major revisions in the tax law this year. So next year's forms must reflect the same complex law.

To get around this, the Revenue Service is thinking in terms of getting up a new basic tax form which would serve the needs of the majority of people who do not have the special kinds of income that now complicate the form — retirement pay, dividends, rents, interest, capital gains, and so on. The present check-size punch-card form for the use of taxpayers having less than $5,000 total income which is virtually all wages and salary and who want the revenue service to figure out their tax for them, would be continued. This is used by an estimated 11 million taxpayers.

Controls Studied On Polio Vaccine

WASHINGTON (AP) — An early start appeared assured today for House hearings into the wisdom of federal controls over the distribution of Salk polio vaccine. The Eisenhower administration has thus far recommended against such controls. Secretary of Welfare Hobby said last night she will recommend curbs to the White House "if it appears on the basis of our findings and discussions or developments that the fight against polio will best be advanced by such legislation."

A special government-sponsored advisory committee, comprised chiefly of private medical and health officials, yesterday recommended voluntary controls to deal with problems of supply, distribution and priorities. Several members of Congress have called for federal controls to assure that the vaccine goes first to those who need it most — generally children from 5 to 9. Chairman Spence (D-Ky.) said Monday the House Banking Committee will hold hearings on the question "as soon as possible."

Flint Mother Jailed For Killing Husband

FLINT (AP) — A Flint mother of three was sentenced to 5 to 15 years imprisonment Monday after pleading guilty to second degree murder in the shooting of her husband June 5, 1954. Circuit Judge Philip Elliott said he was being lenient in the sentencing of Mrs. Julia Canty, 35, because of the "brutality" of her husband.

Faulkner Wins Pulitzer Prize For War Novel

NEW YORK (AP) — Novelist William Faulkner has been awarded the 1955 Pulitzer Prize for fiction for "A Fable," an allegorical novel of a World War I mutiny.

The year's drama award went to Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," a play dealing with the dissolution of a Mississippi Delta family. Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire" won him his first Pulitzer Prize in 1948.

Both From Mississippi

Both, Faulkner, 57, a first-time winner, and Williams, 41, are Mississippi-born. Faulkner won the 1949 Nobel Prize for literature.

Gian-Carlo Menotti, Italian-born composer and lyricist, received the music award for "The Saint of Bleeker Street," an opera based on religion and Greenwich Village life. Menotti was the winner of the 1950 music prize for another opera, "The Consul."

The awards, set up in the will of the late publisher Joseph Pulitzer, were announced Monday by the Columbia University Board of Trustees. They were recommended by an advisory board of prominent members in the newspaper and publishing fields.

Newspaper Cited

The Columbus (Ga.) Ledger and Sunday Ledger-Enquirer won the 1955 award for "disinterested and meritorious public service."

The newspaper was cited for its complete news coverage and "fearless editorial attack" on the widespread corruption in nearby Phoenix City, Ala.

Local reporting awards went, for the first time, to two small-town newspaper reporters, both of them from Texas.

They are Mrs. Caro Brown, of the Alice, (Tex.) Daily Echo, and Roland K. Towery, 31, managing editor of the Cuero (Tex.) Daily Record.

Wall Street

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined today without any show of weakness.

Prices in the early afternoon ranged from 2 points lower to 2 points higher, but losers predominated.

Volume remained subdued near Monday's 2,220,000 shares.

Lower stocks included General Motors, Goodyear, Boeing, Western Union, Dow Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, National Biscuit, Stromberg Carlson, Reynolds Metals, and Illinois Central.

U.S. government obligations dipped minor fractions.

Great Risk Seen In Annual Wage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank B. Cliffe, vice president of the H. J. Heinz Co. of Pittsburgh, said today the guaranteed annual wage being demanded by some unions may endanger expansion of programs of some businesses and bankrupt others.

Cliffe said in a speech prepared for the 43rd annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce that many firms have found it possible to regularize production and pay checks "with varying degrees of success."

But the risks are great, he said, for companies subject to seasonal fluctuations in sales or sensitive to the ups and downs of the business cycle. "While I am in strong sympathy with the desire for steady work and correspondingly steady pay, the demand for a guaranteed annual wage seems to be using the wrong tool for the job," he said. "Certainly the destruction of an employer's willingness to expand and experiment and the bankruptcy of other employers who could not survive the additional load of payments demanded would harm employees far beyond the benefits they would have received."

Barefoot Priest Fights Fire On St. Nazianz Hill

ST. NAZIANZ, Wis. (AP) — Volunteer firemen, directed by a barefoot priest, fought a blaze started by a lightning bolt early Monday in the 90-year-old St. Gregory Roman Catholic church atop the highest hill in this eastern Wisconsin village.

Townpeople and the Rev. Frederick Dorn, who didn't wait to put on his shoes, rushed out in pouring rain as parts of the church steeple fell after being hit by lightning. Fire damage was confined to the steeple.

Escanaba Officers Receive Training At Police School

Two members of the Escanaba police department recently completed training courses at Michigan State College, East Lansing, and a third is to attend a police command school there beginning next Monday.

Patrolmen Wallace Anderson and Robert Coan recently returned from MSC where they spent the past month in police training school; and Sgt. Robert Crepeau will leave Sunday for East Lansing to attend a one-week police command school session.

Briefly Told

Motorists Ticketed — Escanaba police have issued traffic violation tickets to the following motorists: Edward R. Geach, 1524 9th Ave. S., disobeying stop sign; Jerry McMartin, 312 S. 18th St., speeding; Claude B. Farrell, 602 S. 9th St., disobeying stop sign; Bertil O. Eckman, 1426 N. 16th St., speeding; Adam Schwartz, 309 S. 13th St., disobeying stop sign.

Fire Calls — Escanaba firemen yesterday responded to two calls, the first to 1401 Sheridan Rd., where wiring in a car owned by the J. Jasinski had shorted; and the second to South Ford River, where there was a chimney fire at the Clarence Londo residence. There was no damage.

Baseball Meeting — A meeting to organize a baseball team will be held at 6:30 tonight at the Bay Shore diamond at Gladstone. Those interested in try-outs are asked to report.

Hospital

Mrs. Robert Vietzke of 500 N. 10th St., Gladstone, is a patient at St. Francis Hospital, where she submitted to surgical treatment this morning.

Report On Armory Community Building Presented By Ward

The work of the Escanaba Armory Project committee in attempting to procure an Armory and Community Building for Escanaba was explained to the men's club at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church at its regular dinner meeting in the Guild Hall last night.

"The committee currently is determining the requirements of a community building and then will select the most suitable site before presenting the proposal to the City Council for approval," James G. Ward Jr., committee chairman, said.

Plans for the church's annual Harvest Dinner in October also were discussed, and a moment of silence for the club's late president, Arthur E. Nelson, was observed.

Lawrence J. Jacobs was named general chairman of the Harvest Dinner. Other chairmen appointed by President Steve Baltic were Vernon Ihlenfeldt, arrangements; Robert Henderson and E. R. Cole, courtesy; Frank W. Loos, dining room; and Clovis C. Colvin, kitchen.

Auto Executive Foresees Rosy Future For U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—An automotive executive predicted Monday that by 1975 a large part of U. S. families "may be using three or more cars."

"The one-car family could be in the minority," said Lester L. Colbert, president of Chrysler Corp. He addressed 3,500 businessmen at the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Colbert said industry will be hard pressed to supply its growing market in the next 20 years.

He predicted that automation—the trend to automatic factories—will be a "timely blessing" in the two decades ahead, rather than a potential source of unemployment.

Population will surge up to 221 million by 1975, he said, while the number of new workers will rise slowly because of the low depression-years birth rate.

"The job ahead is to produce enough goods and services to meet needs of a rapidly growing population with a slowly growing force of productive workers," he said.

"The 'free, open' American economy will have its ups and downs, he said, but 'there need not be anything like a serious and prolonged depression if competitive business continues to do its work in the atmosphere of confidence.'"

He said 1955 may be the auto industry's best year.

Clem D. Johnston, president of the U. S. Chamber, supported Colbert's rosy picture of the future.

He declared in prepared remarks, "We can double the American standard of living by 1965 if we really put our minds to it."

But he said that if the country is to progress toward this "brave new world," it must rid itself of

"this welfare state philosophy of giving everyone, regardless of how much work he does or how well he does it, an equal share of everything."

Jackson Prison Has Miles Of Files To Check Up On Felons

JACKSON (AP)—Miles of files give Southern Michigan Prison a tight check on the felon population.

The banks of filing cases are the big prison's identification bureau, maintained by the Department of Corrections and rated as the largest kept by any prison in the world.

Second only to the FBI identification bureau in Washington Southern Michigan Prison's system contains detailed information on all prisoners or ex-convicts who have ever spent time behind its walls.

Its supervisor, William J. Dunham, and his 12-inmate staff can usually establish a man's identity with little more to go on than a father's first name, and some fragment of information such as age, hobby, crime, date of arrival at the prison, a nickname or handwriting.

The bureau has the fingerprint charts of 150,000 criminals along with 250,000 cross-indexed alias cards and 20,000 nickname cards.

The huge master file has data about every person who has ever been imprisoned in Michigan.

The cross reference files list inmates by the counties from which they were sentenced; transcripts of inmates' police records as compiled by the FBI and state police; and persons sentenced to prison by judges throughout the state. Another lists criminals under the headings of more than 50 different crimes.

Full-Time Job

The identification bureau isn't used just to apprehend wrongdoers. It has been used to locate missing persons; establish proof of age for those entitled to old age pensions; establish identity for dependents entitled to insurance, and to prove eligibility for servicemen benefits.

The bureau files were grown to their present size since the system was started in 1926 by the late Capt. Robert Stakekub under Warden Harry Hulbert.

Supervisor Dunham and his staff work constantly gathering information and checking on requests for data from the mass of material already collected and on file.

No Kissing Room For New Airport

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The new airport here won't get a "kissing room"—not for a time, anyway.

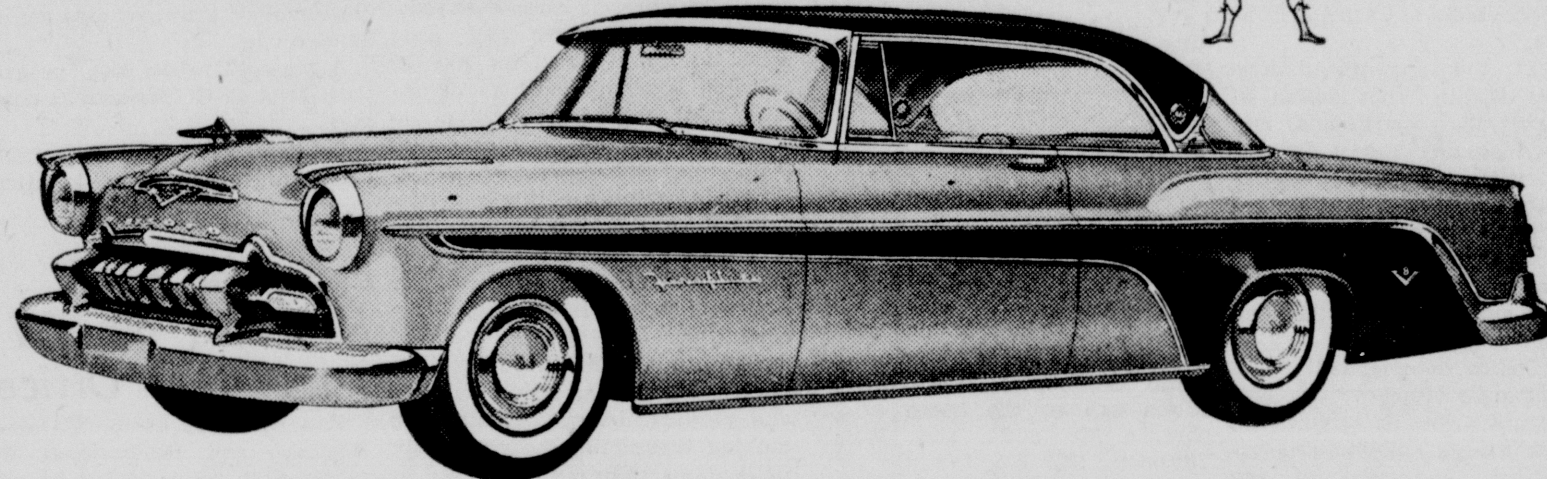

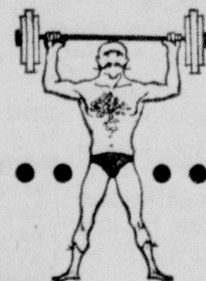

Gen. Gustavo Salinas Carranza, head of the Civil Aviation Bureau, explained:

"We get at least half a dozen wedding parties a week at the airport—that is, the bride and groom are leaving on their honeymoon. Those newlyweds are ridiculous to everybody except their friends."

"So I thought we ought to have a goodby salon so they could have some privacy. But the newspapers took it up and called it a 'kissing room.'"

"I can't spend government money on a 'kissing room'. The papers have got to be more dignified about it or we won't have one."

Voters' League Begins Study Of Jacobs Report

The first of a series of study sessions on the administrative organization report of the J. L. Jacobs Co. of Chicago, led by Mrs. George Ruwitch, was held at last evening's meeting of the League of Women Voters at Carnegie Public Library.

One of the recommendations discussed is the consolidation of the present 13 departments and offices which now report directly to the city manager into seven departments with seven officials reporting to the city manager. This change was analyzed with the aid of charts showing the present structure and the recommended changes.

Policy Commended

The Jacobs Survey, it was brought out, reveals significant accomplishments and features related to the government of the City of Escanaba. The pay-as-you-go policy in providing municipal improvements and equipment with the city operating on a cash basis was commended.

The city, the report states, provides improvements and services at unit costs less than or comparable to costs of private contractors as a result of the use of modern equipment and through pooling available skills from several departments to accomplish most of the maintenance and construction work during the seasonal construction period.

Municipal services generally are more extensive and complete than services in other cities of similar size in the northern section of the country, the study revealed. Some of the additional services provided by the city include waste collection and disposal, street sweeping and cleaning in residential and commercial areas, tree trimming and planting, recreation center and programs, extensive parks and playground services and additional utility connection and appliance check services.

The above accomplishments the Jacobs report states have placed the City of Escanaba in the vanguard of well operated and financed governments among cities in this class. This position has been attained both through adoption of and adherence to democratic local self-government and businesslike administration.

Mrs. Victor Powers reported on recent developments in the power situation at the meeting.

Mrs. Russell Johnson and Mrs. Ruwitch were elected delegates to the state convention to be held in Saginaw May 5 and 6.

Women's Activities

May Fellowship Day Service Here Friday

The United Council of Church Women will participate in the national observance of May Fellowship Day Friday, May 6. The service in Escanaba will be held at the First Methodist Church at 2:30 p. m. with the Rev. George Reichard, First Presbyterian pastor, giving the address on "The Responsible Christian Family," theme of the observance.

The yearly event is sponsored by the United Church Women and its affiliated state and local councils. The national church women's organization is a general department of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States.

Community Problems

Aimed at programs of cooperative action on specific community problems the May observance in the past has emphasized such issues as race relations, slum clearance and women's role as citizens. This year the women will consider the family and its role in teaching concepts basic to democracy and religion, the worth of the individual and the brotherhood of man.

The importance of the women's concern with family life was underscored by Mrs. Spann W. Milner, Atlanta, Ga., chairman of the national May Fellowship Day committee.

"At a time when juvenile crime, family disruption, mental illness and political irresponsibility are making disquieting headlines, we believe no community project is more important than that of helping families to be more secure in themselves and more aware of their responsibilities to others," Mrs. Milner said.

Family Influence

"Leaders in the churches and in public life," she noted, "have come to recognize the influence of the family both in building religious faith and in creating the moral atmosphere of the nation."

"Through our studies and discussions this spring," she added, "we hope an increasing number of church families will come to understand how they can put their Christian convictions into action to make their own homes happier and their communities better places to live."

Mrs. Milner cited some of the suggestions given in a study manual on "The Responsible Christian Family" written by Mrs. Ruth McAfee Brown, former

Glaciers Covered U.P. 500 Million Years Ago, Says Geology Student

MADISON—Evidence that Upper Michigan was covered with glaciers more than 500 million years ago has been presented by a University of Wisconsin graduate student in geology.

No such glaciation has been reported previously for this area in the late Pre-Cambrian or early Cambrian times.

In his paper, "Late Keeweenaw or Early Cambrian Glaciation in Upper Michigan," published in the latest Bulletin of the Geological Society of America, Raymond C. Murray discusses a rock outcropping exposed along the eastern shore of Keeweenaw Bay, Lake Superior, west of the town of L'Anse, Mich.

Caused by Moving Ice

This exposure, he points out, shows striations, gouges, grooves, polishing and friction cracks on the upper surface of a stratum called Michiganite slate. The slate is immediately overlaid by Jacobsville sandstone. In the normal or conformable order of rock layers laid down one upon another, rocks of the Keeweenaw period would lie between the slate and the Jacobsville depositions.

The absence of the Keeweenaw rock plus the striations, grooves, and other evidence would seem to indicate, he reports, that glaciers scooped off the Keeweenaw layers and left their marks of friction upon the slate beneath. Later, the Jacobsville sandstone was deposited on the slate.

"Moving ice is the most plausible explanation for the features described," Murray says of the unconformity at L'Anse, the only evidence thus far uncovered in eastern North America of a glacial period which preceded our most recent ice age by some 500 million years.

Not Single Catastrophe

The ice in this very early period, Murray points out, may also have covered much of North America and also other parts of the world such as Africa, Australia and around the North Atlantic area.

"This and other evidence suggests that glaciation has occurred many times throughout the history of the world," Murray says, "and is not a single catastrophic event of the last million years."

The graduate student in geology, a resident of Fitchburg, Mass., is working toward a Ph. D. degree which he expects to receive from the University of Wisconsin this June.

Tips On Polio Drug Helpful To Parents

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (P)—A few scientific facts can be helpful guideposts to parents worried about the polio vaccine.

There are two main worries:
1. Is any of the vaccine causing polio?
2. Is it failing to prevent polio?

The scientific facts give no reason to jump to conclusions that either worry is justified. Here's why.

The vaccine is made of killed virus. Dead virus cannot cause polio. Vaccine is first tested for this safety.

It is possible that some lots of vaccine might contain living virus, and be missed in the tests. With the precautions used in making vaccine, this is very unlikely.

But the possibility is the reason why vaccine made by the Cutter Laboratories was withdrawn, for rechecking, after some children vaccinated with it developed polio. The answer from the rechecks and various tests should be forthcoming soon.

Polio also developed in a Columbus, Ga., child given one shot of vaccine prepared by Eli Lilly Co.

There is a far better reason than faulty vaccine why some children developed polio after getting only one shot of vaccine. It is that they got the shot too late.

If the polio virus already had invaded the child, the vaccine couldn't throw up a defensive fence soon enough.

It is significant to health officers that many if not all cases of polio occurred within five to seven days after the first shot of vaccine. This could mean it didn't have time to become effective.

There is no reason to think that the shot of vaccine would speed up development of polio in a child already exposed to polio virus.

Some health officers also point out that a majority of the cases of polio after one shot of vaccine occurred in southern California, where the polio season usually begins earlier than in Northern states. Again this indicates the vaccine didn't have time to work. There was no evidence in the exhaustive report of Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., University of Michigan, that the vaccine caused polio.

Rotarians Hear Wildlife Talk

Fluctuations in wild animal populations were discussed for members of the Manistique Rotary club Monday noon by Prof. Warren Chase, head of the wildlife management department at the University of Michigan's School of natural resources.

Chase, who was introduced by William Corson, is a brother of Clarence Chase of St. Paul, Minn., a former U. S. forester here and member of the Manistique Rotary club.

Professor Chase explained the three classifications of change in animal populations, pointing out that there is the "first" fluctuation with only minor changes in a stable level, such as in the quail population; "eruptive" changes, where the population rises and falls abruptly, as with the lemmings in the far north; and the "cycle," in which regular "ups and downs" can be noted. Examples of the latter would be ruffed grouse, partridge and the snowshoe rabbit cycle he explained.

Inbreeding Not A Cause
Common reasons advanced for changes in animal population are (1) that animals fare best when near a central area constituting a "most favored habitat," (2) migration, (3) starvation; (4) predation; (5) disease and parasites; (6) psychological "thresholds of survival," when the population reaches a low point beyond which animals do not reproduce; (7) maternal and paternal domination; (8) crowding; and (9) unfavorable sex ratios.

Upper Michigan now is at a "low point" in partridge population, but the cycle will move up again in four or five years, Prof. Chase observed.

He added that cycles of animal population also change in accordance with the population of "key animals," or those which feed on vegetation, and in turn become food for fur-bearing, carnivorous animals. Weather and fire cycles also have an effect on game populations, he noted.

Inbreeding apparently has little effect on deer population growth, Prof. Chase stated. In an experimental deer herd begun more than 25 years ago with but five deer, the animals are in good condition today, he said. Similarly the taking of does and fawns has little effect, he added.

Heavier Hunting
The theory that sunspots affect the amount of Vitamin E available, and thus the reproduction of animals also has been advanced. The U-M professor explained, but it is not known if it has any relation to population of animals. In a similar way, he said, a study of animal predators has revealed they do not out population, but the degree to which they do has not been ascertained.

Game management specialists attempt to determine how to keep certain game populations high enough for recreation, but low enough to avoid agricultural and other loss, Prof. Chase explained. Michigan has found that heavier hunting when the population of deer is high does not reverse the population trend, he added. Both Wisconsin and Minnesota in the past three decades have had closed seasons while Michigan had open seasons when populations were high and the Michigan population came up just as fast as in the other two states, he said.

Older Boys' Conference
Forest areas in which aspen, jackpine and small maples are found provide good habitat for deer, the U-M department head said. Timber harvesting appears to be the best method by which forage is assured. Small burnings also are effective, he stated, but are not practical on a state-wide basis. Pipeline openings, however, are providing natural population areas, as well as forest roads and fire-breaks, Prof. Chase noted.

Following his talk, individual questions were presented by Rotarians. In answer to one regarding the natural demise of sea lamprey, Prof. Chase said it may be possible and that he "hoped so," for the "cost of putting weirs in each Michigan stream will be high."

During the session, Rotarians voted to support attendance of a youth at an older boys' conference May 10, and heard a request from Dr. M. M. Ketchik, for club support of the "clean-up, fix-up and paint-up" program here next week.

It has been reported that present schools are fire hazards and will not be approved. Wells at the schools have been condemned. The township school board at the end of the year expects to have $38,000 in a school building fund, through a 5-mill tax increase voted in 1953 for the years 1953-1957, inclusive. This, plus revenue from the proposed sale of old school buildings will be used to finance cost of the school, if voters approve the proposals May 23.

New Tourist Promotion Group Organized For US2

A new organization known as the Lake Michigan Scenic Highway association has been organized by residents on US-2 between St. Ignace and Naubinway, to advertise and increase traffic on US-2.

Last summer a similar organization was active in promoting M28, and issued 200,000 maps depicting the beauty and advantage of travel across the Upper Peninsula. These maps were distributed at the Straits of Mackinac, with the result that business places along US-2 keenly felt the competition.

Several thousands of dollars has been collected and US-2 brochures will be prepared for distribution at the Straits during the coming tourist season. Each business place from Naubinway to St.

Ignace has contributed $15, it is reported by the association and the fund in this 40-mile area alone now exceeds $900.

The M28 literature last summer showed US-2 as a faint line and did not indicate such places as the Big Spring, Indian Lake and other tourist attractions. M28 was shown as a solid improved highway.

A meeting will be held in Escanaba later to elect officers and plan advertising material. Business places from Escanaba to St. Ignace will be represented.

Million-A-Year Incomes Decrease

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were 148 Americans with incomes over a million dollars in 1952, Internal Revenue Service records show. This was 23 fewer than the year before.

A revenue service study of 1952 tax returns made public Friday disclosed that the 148 millionaires reported income totaling $289,224,000. On this, they paid federal income taxes totaling $180,198,000. Personal income tax collections that year reached a record level of 28 billion dollars.

Arabia is believed by some authorities to be the original home of the Semitic peoples.

CONTRACT BRIDGE By Josephine Culbertson

A MENTAL SWITCH

IT IS an excellent idea for a declarer to change places mentally with this or that defender and decide what he himself would have led or played under given circumstances. But there may be a fatal flaw in this process. The declarer, putting modesty aside, must be sure that his own ideas about leads and plays are the same as the opponents'—otherwise he can scarcely hope to reach the same conclusions.

If all this seems rather abstruse, perhaps we can clear it up with an illustrative deal:

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♠ Q J 9 7	♠ 8 2
♥ 8 5 3	♥ 9 7 6 4
♦ Q 6 4	♦ K 10 8 5
♣ J 10 2	♣ 2

The bidding:
South West North East
2♣ Pass 2NT Pass
3♠ Pass 4♠ Pass
5♠ Pass 6♠ (final bid)

Undeniably, South had a powerful hand, but he was nevertheless pushing when he bid again over

North's raise to four spades. North had not shown anything except spade support, and he would have had to give the raise on any four trumps—he did not guarantee possession of Q-J-9-7.

West, no ace-leader by habit or inclination, did not lay down the ace of hearts from his tenace—he elected to open a trump. As it happened, however, South himself was an habitual ace-leader; so, using wish-fulfillment as a substitute for genuine analysis, he took it for granted that because West hadn't led the heart ace, he didn't have it.

Accordingly, South drew trumps, ending in dummy, and confidently led a heart toward his hand, putting in the king when East played low. South was deeply disillusioned when West took the trick and cashed the heart queen, defeating the contract.

Obviously, South's reasoning about the position of the heart ace was unsound, but, apart from that, he overlooked the really good line of play for the contract. After taking the first trick with the spade ace, he should have cashed the diamond ace, then led the spade three to dummy's nine. He should ruff a diamond with the spade king, lead a low club to the ten and ruff the last diamond, then go back to the club jack and draw trumps, discarding two hearts. He could then run enough clubs to fulfill the contract.

John Martinac, one of St. Joe's great all-around athletes a few years back, is still making a name for himself in sports. A third baseman on the Co. 24 Engineers at Kaseralsluten in Germany, Martinac is one of the team's leading batters. Pfc. Martinac's team has a record of six wins and two defeats against other service teams this season.

The oldest records in the Central League's track and field book are a 10.4 100 yard dash and a 20-4 broad jump turned in by Don Shannon of Powers back in 1947. Eight of the league's 13 existing records, which will be under attack at the league meet here Friday, were established last year.

Gladstone's feat of winning both the football and basketball championships in the Great Lakes Conference this school year marks the first time in the history of the league that one school won a double title. The GL conference has been in existence since the football season of 1948.

One of the athletes to watch in the Central League track meet here Friday will be Dick Beaudry of Cooks. Dick won the 880 yard run in the league meet last year and has gradually whittled down his time since then. He ran his best half-mile in the quadrangular meet at Manistique Saturday, churning the distance in 2:16, more than one second below the league mark set by Hank Peterson of Cooks in 1953.

Scouts from three major league baseball clubs are expected to be in the stands when the Escanaba Eskimos tangle with the Holy Name Crusaders Thursday afternoon at the City Diamond. The White Sox, Red Sox and Indians have indicated they will have a "bird dog" on hand to watch the two teams in action. The game shapes up as one of the highlights on the spring sports schedule here.

Escanaba failed in its bid to get the state championship Major softball tournament here next fall. The Escanaba Softball Association had submitted its bid for the tourney, which involves the top softball classification in the state, but the meet was awarded to Jackson. There will be no state championship tournament in the Upper Peninsula this year.

Furillo's Homer Beats Milwaukee 2-0 In 12th

BROOKLYN — Carl Furillo slammed his eighth home run of the season with Jackie Robinson on base in the 12th inning to break up a brilliant scoreless pitching duel between Brooklyn's Carl Erskine and Milwaukee's Gene Conley Monday and give the Dodgers a thrilling 2-0 triumph.

Furillo's blow came after Gil Hodges had opened the bottom half of the 12th by becoming Conley's eighth strikeout victim and

Robinson followed with a walk, Conley's sixth of the game. Until then, Conley had out-pitched Erskine, permitting only three hits to six for the Brooklyn right-hander. The victory, Brooklyn's 16th in 18 starts this season, put them six games in front of the second place Chicago Cubs and 6 1/2 ahead of the third place Braves. Score by innings: Milwaukee 000 000 000 0-0 6 1 (12 innings) Brooklyn 000 000 000 0-2 4 1 (12 innings) Conley and Crandall; Erskine and Campanella. Home Run — Brooklyn, Furillo.

Eagles Top Maroons In Dual Track Meet

Bob Visuri Runs Century In 10.4

MENOMINEE — The unbeaten Stephenson High School track team added the Menominee Maroons to their list of victims here yesterday, winning a dual meet 73 1/2 to 35 1/2.

Highlighting the track and field activity was a blazing 100-yard dash in 10.4 seconds by Stephenson's speed merchant Bob Visuri. The time is his best in a four-year track career and equals the existing Upper Peninsula Class B record.

Visuri was nipped in the other dash event, the 220 yard run, by team mate Jim Strohl. Strohl broke the tape in 24.2 seconds. It was Visuri's first defeat in the event this season. Sharing honors with Visuri was lanky Dick LeRoy who stepped to a new Walton Blesch Field record in the low hurdles. The Stephenson star skimmed the sticks in 21.2, breaking the old record of 22 seconds flat held by Loren Wall. LeRoy also won the high hurdles in 16.5, his best time this season, and tied for first in the high jump to lead the Eagles in point-production.

Tom Kakuk also posted his best time of the season in winning the 440 yard dash in 56.3. Other individual winners for Stephenson were Bob Kuntze in the mile, Strohl in the shot put, Jerry Martin in the half mile and the two relay teams. The Eagles swept the mile event and the 220 yard dash.

Coach Francis Cappaert's Eagles will take their undefeated record into the Great Lakes Conference track meet at Manistique Saturday. Strong opposition is expected from Sault Ste. Marie, defending U. P. Class B champion, and the Newberry Indians who finished second to Soo in Saturday's Soo Invitational meet.

Scoring—Stephenson 73 1/2, Menominee 35 1/2. Summary: High hurdle—LeRoy (S), Peterson (M), Hofer (M), 16.05. Medley relay — Stephenson (Dolack, Strohl, King, Forester), 2:48.

100 yard dash—Visuri (S) Strohl (S), tied for their Dugovite (S) and Peshak (M), 10.4.

Mile — Kuntze (S), Walker (S), Lamontague (S), 4:53.3. 440 yard dash — Kakuk (S), Collins (M), Miller (M), 56.3.

Low hurdles—LeRoy (S), Hofer (M), Hubbard (S), 21.2.

220 yard dash — Strohl (S), Visuri (S), Dugovite (S), 24.2.

Half-mile—Martin (S), Tessier (M), Gruenstern (S), 2:11.5.

Pole vault—Beyer (M), tied for second Palzewicz (S) and Kleinke (M), 9-9.

Little League Tryouts Will Be Held Saturday

With Little League tryouts tentatively set up for Saturday, May 7, at Royce Park, candidates are urged to fill out registration forms this week.

Applications can be made at the field Saturday, but new players will have to wait until all registered candidates have been processed. Starting time will be announced later.

As has been the practice in the past, team managers Bob Stumm of the championship Lions, Laurence Erickson, Rotary; Ray DeGrand, St. Joseph Boosters; and Manley Anderson of Kiwanis will be in charge of the tryouts.

To help the managers, all eligible players from last year's rosters are asked to fill out a registration blank if they intend to play this season. This is a deviation from the practice followed in previous years.

Prospective players are reminded that while it is possible, it is highly improbable that any player will be accepted into the league should they miss the spring tryouts. League rules require that candidates be present at the tryouts so that all the managers have the opportunity to look them over. Players will be checked on running, throwing, batting and fielding.

Brooklyn Owns Another Record

BROOKLYN — The Brooklyn Dodgers, still playing as if it were a crime to lose, own another record today it is doubtful if they are aware of it.

In defeating Milwaukee 2-0 in a 12-inning thriller Monday night for their 16th victory in 18 starts this season, the Dodgers accomplished a feat never attained by any other club in modern times.

The record books do not carry such statistics. All they list are the consecutive victories from the start. The Dodgers already had topped that mark when they captured their first 10.

A thorough check of the box scores since 1900 disclosed the best previous getaway gait through the first 18 games belonged to the 1907 New York Giants and the 1946 Boston Red Sox. Each team posted a 15-3 won-lost record.

The Giants won their next nine for a 24-3 (.889) rating before losing. The Red Sox added six more victories for 21-3 (.875) before their next loss.

Sport Shorties

ALMA — Elton Luckritz smashed out a two run homer in the sixth inning to clinch Alma College's 3-2 victory over University of Detroit Monday.

DETROIT — Pitcher Bud Black, who jumped the Detroit Tigers last Thursday, has been sent to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League. Black went to his home in St. Louis when he heard the Tigers were going to farm him out. But he said he was sorry for his action, and will report to Oakland.

HOUGHTON — Michigan Tech will open its 1955 football season at home, meeting Stevens Point (Wis.) in a night game Sept. 17. The rest of the schedule: Oct. 1 — at St. Norbert (Wis.); Oct. 8 — Ferris Institute (Night); Oct. 15 — at Northern Michigan; Oct. 22 — Northland (Wis.); Oct. 29 — at Moorhead (Minn.); Nov. 5 — at Bemidji (Minn.).

Powers Wallops Vulcan 21-5 In League Opener

POWERS — The Powers-Spalding Tigers opened their Little Seven Conference season here yesterday by blasting out 18 hits, including five for extra bases, in a 21-5 victory over the Vulcan Giant Killers.

Every regular in the Powers lineup collected at least one hit off four Vulcan pitchers during the game that lasted nearly three hours.

Bernard Popoure and Mule Hansen shared the Powers mound and rationed out six safeties. Popoure fanned 11 and Hansen 3 batters. Hansen came on in relief for Popoure in the third inning when the starting pitcher lost his control and walked three men. But Popoure came back in the fifth and fanned eight in the last three innings.

Escanaba Bears Meet Tonight

Escanaba senior baseball plans will be made tonight at an organization meeting of the Bears at the Chamber of Commerce at 8.

All ball players and interested persons are asked to attend the meeting at which an effort will be made to reorganize the city team.

Expected to attend the session is Mike Strohl, of Stephenson, of the Northern Home Talent League. Escanaba has been invited to join the league this summer.

Last year the Bears played on an independent basis, meeting the outstanding teams in the Upper Peninsula in exhibition games. In 1953 the Bears did not operate and previous to that the team was a member of the Tri County League.

Escanaba also received a recent invitation to join the Upper Peninsula League, which has its headquarters in Houghton.

Softball Season To Open Sunday

The Escanaba Softball Association voted to restrict the American League to eight teams and made plans for a grand opening Sunday night at the Memorial Field diamond.

Teams approved for the American League this season were Harnischfeger, Dells, Merchants, Paper Mill, Clairmont Transfer, Northland Bread, Eagles, Bill's Bar and Anderson Brothers.

Managers and Association officers at the final organization meeting last night set the opening Sunday night exhibitions as follows:

7—Paper Mill vs. Northland Bread
8:30—Harnischfeger vs. Merchants

The four teams selected to play in the Sunday night openers finished in the top four position in the league last season. The Merchants were sponsored by the Dells Supper Club last year and won the league championship. Harnischfeger won the state Class C title, the first Upper Peninsula team to turn the trick in the history of softball in Michigan.

Association President Tom Duff announced that the schedule of workbees will continue at Memorial Field this week in preparation for the league openers. A schedule of games will be published up last night and will be published later in the week.

After a lengthy discussion, the Association went on record approving both the McGregor-Goldsmith 100 and the DeBeer balls for league play. Teams may use either ball until two weeks before tournament play, at which time a meeting will be held to determine which will be used in the tournaments.

The Association also ruled that a player may serve as umpire in league play unless his team is involved in the game and approved by Bob Anderson as umpire-in-chief. Ray Wahnawak of Gladstone was accepted as full-time umpire for the 1955 season.

The league's servicemen rule was clarified and revised slightly for this season. The rule now reads that servicemen home on leave are limited to one roster during their stay unless properly released by a manager. Servicemen must sign with the Association president or Commissioner Paul Vardigan before beginning play in the league.

Purchase of a new microphone and amplifier for the Memorial Field public address system was approved.

Sunday's opening date is one of the earliest in the league's history. The date was moved up because of favorable weather for practice this spring. It is hoped that the earlier opening will eliminate playing late season games in cold weather and also will avoid a clash with football in the fall.

Vardigan announced that the deadline for entry in the newly proposed Upper Peninsula League is Sunday, May 15.

A partial report on the advance sale of tickets during the Escanaba Softball Promotion Day indicates that it was a success, Marcel Guindon, treasurer, said.

Sale of season tickets will continue until Sunday's opening games.

Stephenson Athletic Banquet Set Tonight

STEPHENSON — The annual Stephenson High School athletic recognition banquet will be held tonight starting at 6:30 (CST) in the school gym.

Athletes from the Stephenson football, basketball, track and baseball teams will receive letters. Junior varsity, girl basketball players and cheerleaders will also be honored.

Ray Crandall, sports editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, will be the main speaker. Coaches and school officials will also be on the speaking program and music will be provided by students.

Among the guests will be parents, Stephenson teachers, student athletic organization members, school board members and school people from Carney, Daggett and Wallace.

Stephenson High School teams are currently enjoying one of their most successful seasons in the school's history. Coach Francis Cappaert's track and field team is undefeated this spring and the baseball team, coached by Alton Cowan, is one of the strongest in the area.

The Eagles won their first Class B district basketball championship under Coach Walt Schouen in March. Stephenson won the district title by defeating Escanaba in the opening game of the tournament and Menominee in the championship game.

Stephenson is a new member of the Great Lakes Conference, joining an organized high school league for the first time. Other members of the Great Lakes Conference are Escanaba, also a new member, Marquette, Negaunee, Ishpeming, Munising, Newberry, Manistique, Sault Ste. Marie and Gladstone.

Underdog Beats Ronnie DeLaney

NEW YORK — Virgil Akins, a 4-1 underdog, scored an eighth round knockout of hitherto iron-chinned Ronnie DeLaney Monday night.

The 25-year-old St. Louis veteran flattened the sixth-ranking middleweight contender with a left hook and right to the jaw in 2:41 of the eighth round of their television 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

It was Akins' fourth straight victory and his third kayo in a row. It was the first time Ronnie has been stopped in 54 scraps and it was only the second defeat of his career.

Akins was outweighted 140 1/2 to 146 1/2.

In another surprise, Tony Puleo, a 22-year-old Brooklyn rookie making his debut as a main eventer, held heavily favored Carmelo Costa to a 10-round draw in a televised scrap at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena.

Costa, the sixth-ranking featherweight contender, was a 4-1 favorite. He weighed 132 1/4, Puleo 134 1/2.

Sees College Ball Replacing Minors

CHICAGO — Fred Lindstrom, former major league star and now baseball coach at Northwestern, foresees the day college baseball will replace the lower minor leagues.

Lindstrom says the gap between college ball and the majors has been narrowed considerably and believes the present bonus rule which "hurts both the clubs and the players" must be modified.

Lindstrom, who played third base for the Chicago Cubs and New York Giants, made his remarks in an interview concerning Big Ten baseball players who have made the majors.

Big Ten Stars

Of the dozen or so present major leaguers who played at Big Ten schools only four are established stars — Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati, Harvey Kuenn of Detroit, Robin Roberts of Philadelphia and Bill Skowron of the New York Yankees have made it.

Jack Dittmer of Milwaukee, Red Wilson of Detroit, Hoot Evers of Baltimore and Paul Giel of the New York Giants are among other former Big Ten players in the majors.

Lindstrom admitted that the Big Ten, one of the foremost athletic conferences in the country, has not contributed heavily to the majors.

Season Too Short

One reason is the boys are yanked out of college quickly if they show talent and another is the season is too short.

But with the development of summer leagues where college players play all summer under good coaching, Lindstrom believes a lot more college players will make the majors.

Lindstrom doesn't believe college players ever will make the majors directly with regularity because "the jump is too big." But he thinks they could make it after two years in the minors "if they'd get rid of the bonus rule."

Save Bonus Money

Lindstrom believes if the majors would use the colleges as proving grounds, a lot of bonus money paid to high school players would not be wasted. "High school players don't always develop but four years later you can almost be sure if a boy will make the grade. All they'd have to do is agree not to bid for a college player until his class graduates."

"I've talked to both Frank Lane (Chicago White Sox general manager) and Jim Gallagher (Chicago Cub business manager) and they're behind such a move," said Lindstrom.

The White Sox are carrying Ron Jackson as a "bonus baby" and Lane says, "It's a crime that boy couldn't have played in the minors last year — and now — so he could get the experience needed."

Ted's Bat Would Be Great Help To Slumping Red Sox

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If Ted Williams was casting base hits around the American League instead of fishing in Florida, Boston's Red Sox might be a lot better than sixth place.

In first place with 6-1 on April 20, the Red Sox now have lost 10 of their last 12, including five in a row. They've been batting a puny .180 through the slump, getting shut out four times.

The Red Sox ran afoul of Cleveland's Early Wynn Monday and the Indians won 4-2, retaining first place, despite Jackie Jensen's home run with a man on base.

Hockey Teams Change Coaches

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Chicago Black Hawks and New York Rangers have brought in new coaches to try to bolster their sagging fortunes in the National Hockey League.

The Black Hawks Monday hired Dick Irvin, veteran coach of the Montreal Canadiens. The Rangers brought up Phil Watson, a former Ranger player.

Irvin, whose teams have missed the Stanley Cup playoffs only once in 26 years, immediately announced, "We are going to shoot for no worse than third place."

Irvin, 63, succeeds Frankie Ed-dolls, a former Montreal pupil, who has been offered a coaching job with the Buffalo Bisons in the American League.

Watson, as coach of the Rangers, moves into the shoes of his former teammate, Muzz Patrick, elevated to a general manager's post April 22.

Boxer In Critical Shape After TKO

PROVIDENCE (P)—Jose Contreras, 28-year-old middleweight boxer from Taunton, Mass., was reported in critical condition today after undergoing emergency surgery for a brain injury suffered in a bout.

Contreras collapsed while dressing after losing on an 8th round technical knockout to Bob Bolton of Providence Monday night.

He underwent a two-hour operation for removal of a blood clot on the brain.

The father of two young children, he is employed as a rubber worker in Taunton.

NEW METHOD
DAYTON, Ohio (P)—Fifteen-year-old Alvin Herman has a new method of fishing. He scooped a four-pound, 19-inch largemouth bass Monday from a water-filled gravel pit with a bucket.

The Grand Circuit, sometimes called the major league of harness racing, was founded in 1873. It was then known as "The Quadrilateral Trotting Combination."

son, grabbed his first victory of the season. Recovered from an attack of bronchial pneumonia, he scattered six hits. Dave Pope hit a three-run homer in the first.

Detroit kept the pace, a half game back of the Indians, by whipping the New York Yankees 7-1. The Yanks, who were tied for second with the Tigers and Chicago White Sox at the day's start, fell off to fourth. The White Sox, idle, leveled off at third.

Washington blasted Kansas City 12-1 in the only other AL game.

In the National, Brooklyn kept up its fantastic pace, widening its lead to six games as Carl Furillo rammed his eighth home run into the left field stands to beat Milwaukee's Braves 2-0 in 12 innings. That pushed the Braves into fourth with Chicago's Cubs leaping into second on a 2-1 victory at Philadelphia after wrapping up a 4-2 decision by completing a suspended Sunday game.

Purkey Beats Cards
Pittsburgh's Bob Purkey had no trouble with St. Louis, beating the Cardinals 5-1 in the only other NL game.

Veteran Steve Gromek won for Detroit. The 35-year-old right-hander breezed through with a six-hitter. The Tigers got eight hits, including Jim Delsing's home run, and a two-run double by Ferris Fain, off four Yank pitchers starting with loser Bob Wiesler.

Moore Whips Valdes, Eyes Shot At Crown Held By Marciano

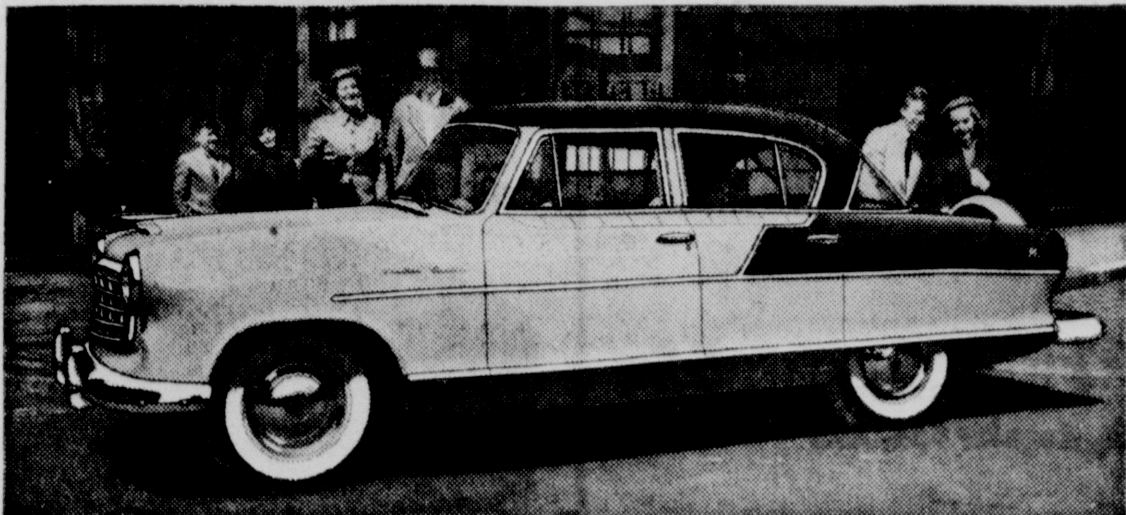

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (P)—Light heavyweight champion Archie Moore may well have earned a shot at Rocky Marciano's world heavyweight title.

Ageless Archie whipped the No. 1 contender, Nino Valdes of Cuba, in a 15-round fight Monday night. At ringside was Truman Gibson, secretary of the International Boxing Club, who said the 38-year-old Moore deserved a chance to meet Marciano.

Repeat Victory
Gibson said the match would probably be scheduled for September in New York, provided, of course, that Rocky disposes of England's Don Cockell in San Francisco.

Canham Sees Olympic Power

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (P)—One of the nation's leading track coaches says the United States will gain needed track and field strength for the 1956 Olympics from Army personnel overseas.

Don Canham, coach at the University of Michigan, has just returned from a three-week stint of helping Army athletes in coaching clinics in Germany.

He said the Army is carrying on a well-organized and capable program for hundreds of Army track teams in the European theater of operations.

One of the best Olympic prospects to be developed in Army competition, Canham said, is Willie Holly, a Detroit youth who had never before competed.

"Now he's doing better than 50 feet in the hop, step and jump," Canham said.

Another prospect is Joe McNulty, former Illinois star hurdler. And there are others, like Wyoming's 800-meter man, Paul Carlin, and Pennsylvania's Van Zimmerman, now a 14-foot pole vaulter.

Yankees Tamed By Old Man Gromek And Tigers, 6 To 1

By JOE FALLS
DETROIT (P)—They say Casey Stengel is a mastermind. He also must be part Swami.

The wrinkle-faced manager of the New York Yankees was reclining on the bench before Monday's game against the Detroit Tigers. His athletes were taking batting practice, rapping one ball after another into the seats.

"Just look at 'em!" Stengel exclaimed. "They're all sluggers in batting practice. They'll probably cost us $5,000 in lost balls."

He Was Right
"Watch what happens when the game starts. I'll bet they won't even be able to see the 'Old Man.' He won't be laying those fat pitches in there."

The "Old Man" in question was Steve Gromek, 34-year-old right-hander of the Tigers.

Old Casey was never more right. Gromek stopped his Yankees 7-1, doling out only six hits — all singles.

It was something of a masterpiece, Gromek retired the first 12 batters in order and didn't walk one throughout the entire game.

Get Lone Run
He lost his shutout in the ninth when the Yanks put together singles by Hank Bauer and Andy

AL KALINE

Carey and Yogi Berra's sacrifice fly.

Despite the brilliance of his performance against the powerful Yankees, Gromek termed his 16-0 shutout against the Kansas City A's as a better piece of pitching.

"But nobody noticed old Gromek that day," he said kiddingly. "Al Kaline hit three homers and Harvey Kuenn got four doubles."

Gromek is one of the few Yankee killers in captivity. He has a 17-10 lifetime mark against them. His season mark now is 4-1.

Delsing Hits Homer
The Tigers backed their veteran ace with eight hits, including a two-run double by Ferris Fain and a solo homer by Jim Delsing in the eighth.

The Yanks used four hurlers, with the starter, young Bob Wiesler, getting the loss. He walked five batters, three of them scoring.

The Tigers open a three-game series against the Boston Red Sox today. Billy Hoelt (2-1) will face Boston's Ivan Delock (2-1).

Michigan GOP Sick But Not Dead Yet

By JACK I. GREEN
LANSING—There is a hopeful and healthy ferment in the Michigan Republican party which may lead to disunity but certainly does not mean the party is dead.
Republicans of all factions are questioning their party's programs, or lack of programs, its leaders or lack of leaders, its policies and its future.
One has only to recall the attitude and condition of Michigan's Democratic party before the advent of Gov. Williams to notice the difference. The Democrats in those days were a leaderless coalition of factions each more interested in defeating its party rivals than in defeating the Republicans. It could almost have been called a party of soreheads because it seemed like everyone was mad at everyone else.
Signs Hopeful
There are plenty of bad tempers in the Michigan Republican party these days. There still are men who apparently would rather see the party lose than lose their own minute place in the hierarchy.

NOTICE

Nominating Petitions For The Wells Township School Board Election In June Must Be Submitted By May 14, 1955 To Joseph M. Berube Secretary Wells, Mich.

But observers interested in a strong two party system in Michigan see hopeful signs in the fact that many Republicans are seriously and sincerely questioning and arguing and debating the future of their party.
There are even healthy signs in the Legislature, believe it or not. The so-called "Young Turks" in the House have had and are having an impressive effect on party thinking in that chamber—an effect which may not be so noticeable in day to day maneuvers but which already has tempered the party's legislative conservatism and stimulated at least a more receptive attitude to new ideas.
The "Young Turks" seem to have been more able and more adroitly led this year by such men as Reps. Richard G. Smith of Bay City, Thomas M. Burns of Saginaw and John J. Mc Cune of East Lansing.
Chance For New Leaders
In the Senate, despite the shakiness of their control, such young leaders as Sens. Creighton R. Coleman of Battle Creek and Edward Hutchinson of Fennville—while more to the right than the House youngsters—have shown increase awareness that their party must assert a positive program.
The belligerent decision of Rep. Leonard E. Wood of Detroit to take a walk from the Republican party probably isn't significant—but it may represent some of the impatience that many of the younger Republicans feel in attempting to win a voice in party affairs.
Young Republicans from many sections of the state still report difficulty in breaking into the old guard's closed shop, but there are indications that the old walls are cracking.
Some Republicans believe that there is a chance for new leadership to flow into the vacuum—if it can be found.
Thoughtful Republicans think that there will be no sudden upsurge in Republican strength—barring a repetition of the 1952 Eisenhower crusade which does not seem likely.
So they look for a period of trial and error, of trying new men and new plans and of the eventual emergence of a new leadership.
In short, they think the Republican party in Michigan is sick—but will recover with time and care.

Year 1955 May Prove Best Yet For Business

NEW YORK (AP)—Business recovery has brought industry and trade roughly back to the peak they climbed in the spring of 1953. The month of May could see new records set in many lines.
The feeling that the recovery is firmly based grows among businessmen. This leads an increasing number to look for good business all through this year, giving 1955 an excellent chance of being the best year yet.
As for the longer pull, President Eisenhower says he's had no "earnest warnings" from his economic advisers of a possible downturn in the second half of the year. What his advisers apparently worry about most is the chance that the business upsurge might tempt the country to "get into a false rush and then fall back."
Warnings against such overconfidence and speculation have come recently from Washington. The Federal Reserve Board has raised margin regulations for the second time this year, making it necessary to put up more cash when buying stocks. Federal agencies in the housing field have put a mild curb on mortgage credit.
The big question worrying businessmen has been: What will happen if the home-building fever cools, if auto production stops its record pace?

One answer is offered today by the economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank, New York's largest. They look for a further moderate rise in consumer spending, which is now gratifyingly ahead of last year. And they expect business itself to increase its spending for new plants and especially for new equipment.
"Over the year as a whole," the bank's economists think, "rising trends in these two areas should, if continued, more than outweigh the easing in autos and housing."
